German Swiss International School

German Swiss International School (GSIS) is a leading dual-language institution in Hong Kong that has offered through-train education from Kindergarten to Secondary since 1969. Delivering a unique multicultural experience, GSIS is steadfast in pursuing its educational goals, whilst continually evolving to meet the changing needs of 21st century learners.

Renowned for its academic excellence, GSIS offers two successful streams with globally recognised diplomas respectively. The German International Stream (GIS) bestows the German International Abitur (DIA) diploma, an advantage over other common school qualifications. As the only international school in Hong Kong to provide this curriculum, DIA graduates become bilingual and proficient in one of Europe's most commonly spoken languages. Students who choose to continue their academic career in Germany are given an education resident visa, and tuition is offered gratuitously by the German government. Alternatively, the English International Stream (EIS) prepares students for the IGCSE and International Baccalaureate (IB) accreditation where world-class results are delivered. Both diplomas create a world of opportunities where attractive options include top-ranking universities in the United States, Canada, United Kingdom, and Europe.
